

QUALITY POLICY

Alpha Biosciences specializes in the production of dehydrated culture media. We are known world-wide for expedient delivery, personalized customer service, and products of the highest quality and performance.

Quality and service are values on which Alpha Biosciences bases its commitment to providing our customers with a full range of culture media products that meet the customers current and anticipated culture media needs. Our goal is to satisfy our customers with products and services that continually surpass their expectations. Our stringent Quality Assurance program, with assays performed by highly experienced scientists, guarantees this.

As we commit to improving our performance, we also recognize the need to demonstrate effective quality management. Continual improvement of our own services and processes, in addition to compliance with all our legal, statutory and regulatory obligations, is an integral part of our business model.

To assist us with our stated goals we have implemented, and will maintain, a management system that meets the requirements of ISO 9001:2015. This system provides us with a means of monitoring and measuring our processes and performance. It offers a framework for communication and training, and also sets objectives and targets for the continual improvement of our organization.
